Profile

When Morgan Evans isn't busy writing about himself in the third person, he can be found writing about himself in the third person omniscient (or so he thought.) As a stand up comedian, filmmaker, writer, actor, and improviser, I have been behind and in front of the camera since I was eight years old. Lacking any back-up plans, I have thrown myself head first into the New York City comedy scene as I attend my first year of college.
